

Give every venue the same calm, practical way to get ready.

Martyn's Law will reach hundreds of your churches, halls, pubs or schools, mostly run by volunteers. Readybrief gives each one tailored procedures and briefings, and gives you one screen to see who's ready.

For your central team

- Every venue's status on one screen: procedures, briefings, drills
- Weekly digest of venues that need attention
- Roll out to all venues at once; nudge the ones that stall
- Evidence pack for any venue in one click
- Answers "what have we done?" for trustees, insurers and the regulator

For each venue

- A short walkthrough, then procedures written for that building
- The local lead checks and signs off every line
- Stewards, bar staff and helpers briefed in three minutes by QR code
- Drill log with photos and annual review reminders
- No equipment to buy, no consultant needed

How it works

1 · SCOPE

Free check with a dated record of the reasoning, linked to the Act.

2 · WALKTHROUGH

Exits, safer rooms, who's on duty. About 15 minutes.

3 · SIGN OFF

Procedures drafted for that building; the venue checks every line.

4 · BRIEF AND LOG

QR poster, 3-minute briefings by role, drills with photos, one evidence pack.

Honest by design

- No "compliance certificates": the government warns against them
- Every point linked to the Act and official guidance
- Procedures encrypted, stored in the UK/EU, never used to train AI

£40 per venue a year from five venues. Founding offer: the first 20 organisations get 40% off their first year. 30-day free trial.
