

Add Martyn's Law readiness to every visit you already make.

Your clients' churches, halls, pubs and schools will need simple public protection procedures from spring 2027. You're already on site. Readybrief lets you deliver them under your own brand in one visit.

For you

- A new, recurring line of work for clients you already serve
- Your brand on your clients' pages and briefing posters
- Complete the walkthrough on site, alongside the fire risk assessment
- Wholesale pricing: you set the price to your clients
- One dashboard showing which clients are ready and who needs a nudge

For your clients

- Procedures written for their building, not a blank template
- Volunteers briefed in three minutes by QR code, by role
- Drill log with photos and annual review reminders
- One evidence pack, ready if the regulator asks
- No equipment to buy: standard tier is about plans and people

How it works

1 · SCOPE

Free check with a dated record of the reasoning, linked to the Act.

2 · WALKTHROUGH

Exits, safer rooms, who's on duty. About 15 minutes.

3 · SIGN OFF

Procedures drafted for that building; the venue checks every line.

4 · BRIEF AND LOG

QR poster, 3-minute briefings by role, drills with photos, one evidence pack.

Honest by design

- No "compliance certificates": the government warns against them
- Every point linked to the Act and official guidance
- Procedures encrypted, stored in the UK/EU, never used to train AI

Founding partners: the first 20 organisations get 40% off their first year. Every plan starts with a 30-day free trial.

Become a founding partner: reply to this email or visit readybrief.co.uk/partners

hello@readybrief.co.uk · readybrief.co.uk

Readybrief is independent and not affiliated with or endorsed by the SIA, the Home Office, ProtectUK or the Martyn's Law Campaign. Not legal advice. Martyn's Law duties are expected from spring 2027.